TELEGRAMS

(By Havas Agency)

Paris 30th.—The Emperor of Russia as arbitrator in the Guiana limits question between the French and Dutch Governments, has fixed the river Aout as the frontier line. This decision favors Holland. The French Government has sent orders to the authorities in Cayenne to abide by same.

ARGENTINE ASSIGNATS.

The Finance Minister and President Pellegrini are quite right in asserting that the present crisis has been produced by the State-banks, but they omitted to state that the way in which those banks plunged the country into confusion was by the enormous issue of paper-money. Pres. Celman and Dr. Pacheco raised the stock of shinplasters from 70 millions in 1886 to 270 millions in 1891, and thus threw the currency into such confusion that it will probably require fifty years to effect a complete recovery.

What became of the 200 millions of fictitious money thus created? This is a question that could be speedily answered if the Government were to publish the discounts of the National Bank, the Provincial Bank and the Pacheco Free Banks of the Interior. In the mean time we can only surmise that the 200 millions have been wasted. The injury thus caused is much greater than is supposed, and the work of re-construction must be long and arduous.

The position, as we have frequently said, is very similar to that produced in France in the last century by John Law's issue of paper-money, and the French Assignats of a later date show us the inevitable fate of the Argentine paper-dollar.

Nevertheless there is a strong party inside and outside of Congress in favor of a liberal issue of shinplasters, as if the evil caused by a superabundance of paper-money can be remedied by still further issues. Every fresh issue must increase the calamity that at present weighs down the Republic. Congress may order to-morrow an emission of 200 millions, and cause a temporary feeling of relief, but the crisis next year will be more terrible, and men will go mad in the streets, as they did in Paris in the 18th century. The police statistics issued last week showed that suicide had increased 50 per cent over last year. This terrible state of things seems to be ignored by the people who venture to call out for fresh issues of paper-money.

The premium on gold keeps rising, and is due to the Pacheco banks and the clandestine issues of later date. The average quotations show as follows:—

1889	181
1890	260
30th May 1891	430

In the meantime the resources of the country are untouched, the pastoral wealth has increased, the wheat crop is the largest on record. Any man of average intellect can see that nothing is wrong except the currency. To suppose that this can be improved by fresh issues is madness.

The only possible means of recovery is a general liquidation, beginning with the State banks. Until this be done we must go from bad to worse. Fresh issues of paper money will augment the evil, and Argentine currency will descend by degrees to the level of assignats, involving the whole country in such confusion that it must end in chaos.

THE SILVER LINING.

In the midst of the troubles that have been brought upon us by trifling with the currency it is gratifying to observe that the productive interests of the country are flourishing. At no previous epoch was the number of sheep or cattle greater, or the area under tillage so extended. The real wealth of the Republic is undiminished; nay it is increasing day by day.

The price of land has indeed fallen fully 70 per cent, but this is merely figurative, for the land was by no means worth the prices current in 1887-90. The land is still there, and represents really as much national wealth as it did in 1880. Cattle and sheep have increased both in numbers and quality, and the tillage area has doubled in ten years. These are facts that we must not lose sight of in the present tremendous crisis.

It would be, however, a fatal mistake on the part of Congressmen or others to suppose that any increase of sheep, horses, cows, pigo, wheat, maize, flax or other products, pastoral or agricultural, can have the least effect in improving the currency. The Transit of Venus has as much to do with the value of the shinplaster.

It is, at least, some consolation to know that no matter how many hundreds of millions of shinplasters be in circulation they do not in the smallest degree affect the productive resources of the Republic. Buenos Ayres may be involved in general bankruptcy, the commerce of the republic thrown into appalling wreck and ruin, two-thirds of the inhabitants reduced to poverty; but the estancias and grain-farms will be as productive as ever.

We published last week a letter from a German correspondent in the Western camps who says:—

"The average increase during the last 4 years has been 40 per cent in cattle, 45 per cent in sheep."

Persons who have lately made the trip by the direct railway from Rosario to Tucuman assure us that for hundreds of miles you see nothing but land under tillage on both sides of the line, as far as the eye can reach. A few years ago those lands were wilds of the Gran Chaco.

Thus it is that in spite of the crisis the country continues to progress. Labor and frugality are the only roads to wealth; all the rest is gambling. The wealth that existed in Buenos Ayres in 1888-90 was for the most part illusory. Stocks and shares were so many counters. Men built palaces, in the belief that they possessed enormous fortunes, but their fortunes were merely slips of paper. These stocks have fallen to nothing. The real wealth of the country, however, is unimpaired.

ARGENTINE WINE-CROP.

Advices from Mendoza shew that wine-growing has made great progress in late years, the area under vines being now 9,000 hectares or 22,000 acres, as compared with 4,000 hectares in 1883. Railway returns shew that in 1890 Mendoza despatched 53,000 barrels, say 2,300,000 gallons, of wine to the eastern provinces, apart from local consumption, but this may have included some received from San Juan. Taking the average yield at 150 gallons per acre, as in Europe, we may expect this year's vintage of Mendoza to reach 3,300,000 gallons, of which about 800,000 would be needed for home consumption, leaving 2,500,000 for exportation to Buenos Ayres or elsewhere.

The wine-crop of San Juan is estimated for the current year at 80,000 bordalesas or 3,600,000 gallons, being a little in excess of that of Mendoza.

As far as we can ascertain, the total for the republic is as follows:—

	Gallons
Mendoza.....	3,300,000
San Juan.....	3,600,000
Catamarca.....	1,800,000
Rioja.....	1,600,000
Other provinces	500,000
Total.....	10,800,000

The ordinary consumption in the Argentine Republic is about 30 million gallons, say 8 gallons per inhabitant, and if the above estimate be correct it would appear that one-third of the wine consumed is Argentine.

Meantime wine-growing, like sugar, can never be a very profitable business for the country, however it may be for the grower. The principal market for Argentine wine is Buenos Ayres, distant 700 miles by railway from the vineyards. If the industry is to pay at all it must be at the cost of the public.

CONGRESS.

An enormous crowd flocked to Congress yesterday to listen to Senator Alem's attack on the President of the Republic and the Minister of the Interior. At two o'clock every seat in the gallery was occupied. At half-past two proceedings were opened. Senator Nougues was voted President of the Senate by a sweeping majority, and Senator J. C. Rodriguez Vice-President. Then Dr. Cortes, Senator for Cordoba, moved that Congress make some solemn declaration assuring the country that the legislators would not vote fresh issues of paper money or forced currency; the bill he proposed was sent to Finance Committee. The President was on the point of adjourning, when Senator Alem begged to say a few words. The orator said that he wished to avail of the opportunity to give his opinion on the recent telegram of the President of the Republic anent the Cordoba revolution; nor could he let pass unnoticed the extraordinary declarations of the Minister of the Interior in the interpellation in the Deputies. The Cordoba revolution, according to Senator Alem, was no surprise, for everybody expected it. For fourteen years poor Cordoba had been misgoverned; for that lengthy time unfortunate Cordoba had not enjoyed the benefit of liberty; it was only fair that forsaken Cordoba should resort to extreme means of redemption. The orator was quite pathetic in his description of the terrible state of Cordoba. The revolution, therefore, was no surprise, it was the natural outcome of the situation. What did surprise, stagger, the public was the telegram of the President of the Republic to the clergy of Cordoba refusing to intercede for the patriots; the tenor of that telegram was simply amazing, might be qualified as a nervous telegram, an ebullition of temper on the part of the President. There could, however, be no longer any doubt as to the President's frame of mind after the declarations of the Home Secretary in the Deputies. The Government had been evidently misled by busybodies trying to spread distrust and disturbance; Bolsa speculators had also something to do in this matter, by spreading false rumors and operating on the strength of them. But the talented orator could not tolerate that either the President or any of his Ministers should insinuate in a malevolent manner that the leaders of a certain party who resided in this capital and actually sat in Congress were engaged in a great plot to upset the Government. He begged the Senate to summon the Minister of the Interior to explain his insinuations, to tell the House all about this mammoth plot, to shew the threads of the conspiracy, and state what measures had been taken to avert the catastrophe.

A division then took place, and the motion of the honourable Senator was thrown out by a fair majority. This issue seemed to rile the eloquent Senator, for as the House adjourned he muttered what seemed to us to be, more or less, "I know where the country is going to."

THE CHILIAN REVOLUTION.

The Chilian papers received by the mail throw very little light on the course of events on the West Coast; nearly all the details of important events were telegraphed to the Buenos Ayres press weeks ago. The Chilian Times gives the following opinions on the bomb-throwing and subsequent excitement in the Chilian capital:—

"There has been no lack of sensational events during the past few days. Bombs have been thrown at the Cabinet Ministers as they were leaving Congress, but fortunately nobody was injured. Infernal machines of a similar kind have been applied to the residence of the nominee of the Convention for the Presidency, but, fortunately, no personal casualty occurred and the damage done to the building was trifling. A bomb was also thrown at a window of the official residence of H. E. the President, but it did not take effect; and a night or two ago one was exploded in a public promenade in the capital, also without doing any harm.

"On the day that the bombs were thrown at the Ministers, the negotiations in the interests of peace initiated by the French, United States and Brazilian Ministers were abruptly terminated, the President considering that the demand formulated by the mediators to the effect that the Government should present terms for peace simultaneously with the Revolutionary Committee was incompatible with his dignity and the position he holds as the constitutional representative of the country. The result has surprised nobody, for the time has not yet arrived for patching up a peace. In another part will be found a translation of a speech on this subject and on the bomb throwing delivered by the Minister of the Interior in the Chamber of Deputies.

"A member of the House of Deputies has presented a bill to empower the President of the Republic to levy a forced contribution of war to produce the sum of twenty millions of dollars. The measure is of a sweeping nature, but it is not likely to pass in its present form. If anything in the shape of a war contribution is to be levied, it is only natural to suppose that the Government, with a better knowledge of its situation and necessities than a private member can possess, will present a Bill of its own, but it is not likely to adopt such a drastic measure without mature consideration.

"Warlike operations appear to be momentarily suspended, but whether or not, it is the calm that precedes the storm, it is difficult to say. There is, as usual, no lack of sensational and absurd rumours which have been floated by both parties to the quarrel, but they are not worth repeating here. There is, however, no doubt that the news published in another part with respect to the detention and escape of the revolutionary transport Itata is correct; and so also is the report to the effect that the cruisers built for the Government in French shipyards have left for their destination, and may be, by this time, if not in Chilian waters, in the Pacific.

"The recent decree relating to the payment of duties at 38 pence has had the effect of enhancing the prices of all kinds of goods enormously. The surcharge for the current month has not yet been made known officially, but it is calculated that it will be somewhere between 135 and 140 per cent. An unexpected slump has taken place in exchange, and several sellers for forward delivery have been caught heavily, and two or three are reported to be in difficulties. Yesterday the rate on London for commercial bills touched 18 and 18d., and as there is a glut of paper and little demand it is believed that exchange will fluctuate slightly about the actual rates for some days and perhaps weeks, unless something should happen to precipitate events.

OUR LONDON LETTER

GENERAL ELECTION IN THE AUTUMN.

(From our own Correspondent.)

April 24.

It is not a lively subject, but the only thing talked about to-day is the Budget. Mr. Goschen was not in his happiest vein. He lost his memoranda, his eyeglass, his figures, and finally himself. Fortunately, the House was in a good humour, and helped him out. Even Mr. Gladstone assisted him by kindly correcting some of his figures in his own favour. The upshot of the Chancellor of the Exchequer's rambling statement is that there is a surplus of two millions, due to the advancing prosperity of the British and American consuming classes, who have drunk more rum and whisky and smoked an intolerable quantity more tobacco than in the financial year 1889-90. Mr. Goschen even went into details, telling us there were 12 pipe-loads of tobacco to each ounce of the weed, and according to his figures we smoked 36 millions more pipes this year than last.

For the current year 1891-92 the estimated revenue is £90,430,000, and the estimated expenditure £88,444,000.

The surplus is therefore £1,986,000, which Mr. Goshen himself states as 2 millions in round numbers. It is distributed thus:—

Devoted to Free Education from 1st Sept. next ..	1,000,000
To Barrack construction.	500,000
To withdrawal of light gold	400,000
	1,900,000

leaving a margin of £86,000.

Mr. Goschen's budget has already been called a "dissolution budget," which is its chief interest. It is framed to please the large interests—that is, the majority, the unwashed Radicals and Socialists, who in the autumn at a general election—so it is whispered—are to be asked to flutter "Free Education" as an opposition banner to "Home Rule." Meanwhile respectable people, poor clerks and licensed victuallers, who expected a penny off the Income Tax and a re-adjustment of the beer duties, are disappointed, and some of them furious. The Morning Advertiser threatens the Tories on the beer question in plain language this morning, while the Standard expresses disgust on its own behalf and on the part of the best friends of the Government that a surplus should be squandered on such a fad as free education, for which there has been no real demand in the country generally.

Your namesake forgets that it was not necessary that the demand should come from the country. It came from "Joe," who, with that delicacy of feeling for which he is renowned, stayed away from the House last night, so that the Chancellor of the Exchebuer, in doing as he was bidden, should not be still further disconcerted by an occasional gleam of Joe's glass eye.

You observe the singular position of political parties in England. Whilst the Liberals and the Irish party are apparently split into fragments, the Conservatives, not only on account of the leaven in their ranks of Liberals as Unionists, but by the sheer force of the current of affairs, are passing more Radical measures than probably Mr. Gladstone would have done if in office fiddling with Home Rule and the pigs of Godara.

Lord Salisbury may talk nonsense at Primrose meetings, but he knows he must slide. His difficulty is when and where to apply the brake. He may think that if he only get a new lease of power a European war or something will turn up which will enable him to save his class and the Church for another generation. He has a certain confidence in the "new channels of Conservatism tapped" by the Primrose League. He will read to-day with immense pleasure in the Pall Mall Gazette Mr. Champion's account of his visit to Australia and learn that socialist was disillusioned with Colonial eight-houred workmen, State Railways and social democracy in active operation. Mr. Champion, the "ci-devant" gentleman and socialist compositor, may change his colours and stand for a Tory—democratic constituency; or in the absence of Lord Randolph, who has grown absurd and gone to Mashonaland, nobody knows why, except he be a crank, Mr. Champion may support Lord Salisbury. The coming election will certainly be a great political experiment. No party knows how it stands.

I enclose two paragraphs from the Financial News in relation to Argentine remittances, which appear to be most punctually attended to by the government. Argentine securities have again advanced. The same journal of to-day has a pessimistic leaderette on Uruguayan affairs. It pretends to know that Mr. Casey's mission was a failure and that the negotiation is only kept alive here by "outside brokers." It gives also particulars of the onerous terms which the National Bank of Montevideo had to submit to for its advances from the Brazilian bankers. There is no occasion to give you the details of your contemporary's lucubrations, as you must be fully informed.

Captain Edmund Verney appeared to-day to his bail. Miss Nellie Maude Basket's counsel produced further evidence identifying Verney with "Wilson," under which name, it is alleged, she was introduced by Mme. Rouillier, the procuress in Paris, to Captain Verney. Miss Basket again says that when in company with her mother, she, on her return to London, met Capt. Verney in Westminster, and said to her mother, "There goes that beast Wilson." Other witnesses deposed to the identity of Wilson with Verney. Mr. Wontner Verney's counsel said he saw the case must go on, and refused to cross examine, excepting asking Miss Baskett one or two questions. In answer to one of these she said that Verney had, in presence of Madame Rouillier, put his arm round her waist, but had otherwise attempted no familiarity.

Some further evidence was given rather damaging to Verney, and the case was again adjourned.

At a meeting of the Irish National League Committee to-day in the House of Commons, it was decided that as Mr. Parnell had not answered Mr. McCarthy's request that part of the money deposited in Paris should be devoted to the relief of the tenants, the Committee should direct that all the money be devoted to that purpose; the intention, it is assumed, being that the responsibility of the condition of the evicted tenants should rest solely upon Mr. Parnell.

Mr. Timothy Healy has recently confessed that Mr. Parnell's previous speeches were composed and written out by him. This accounts for the late lamentable falling-off in Mr. Parnell's eloquence, at first attributed to excitement and ill health.

PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

April 25th.

English and American friends of mine returning from Cannes and Nice attest the wonderful hold that Queen Victoria, by her Spartan simplicity, motherly goodness and unrivalled tact, has taken upon the local population. The fascination appears to be mutual. The Queen has taken a great fancy to Lady Alice de Rothschild. Very soon the Rothschild family will be nearest to the steps of all the thrones of Europe—Russia excepted. France, officially, has spared neither expense nor attention to make the august visit at Grasse more than a success.

Visitors to Versailles can recall the tiny gem-theatre at the Trianon, where Marie Antoinette acted and sang with and for her intimate friends. The poor queen was a passable musician, had rather a thready voice, which though well-trained was unreliable. One evening Her Majesty was singing on the stage when a voice bawled out, "False notes! false notes!" General astonishment, and an "Off with his head, Buckingham!" was instinctively voted by the courtly audience. The culprit turned out to be Louis XVI. himself. During the summer a representation will be given at this little theatre—capable of accommodating 400 persons—to raise funds for the completion of the Houdon statue of Voltaire. The pieces to be represented will be those in which Marie Antoinette appeared, with costumes and scenery of the period in keeping. One-half of the tickets will be allotted to the highest bidders.

Why do the English nobility intermarry more with Italians than French? The explanation commonly given is that Italy is more attractive as a residence for the English, consequently the chances of marrying are greater. The fashion has only to set in for the English to sojourn longer in the south of France to dispute the matrimonial monopoly with Italy. I have the pleasure of knowing several Anglo-French households, and never a single one has proved unhappy. It is rather a common saying that French girls are brought up as dolls. French mothers, on the contrary, devote extreme care and attention to train their girls in household duties, but they do not give their daughters the ante-marriage freedom that their sisters in other lands possess, and nowhere in a greater degree than in Spain. The prudence is wise.

It is now the invariable custom when a young lady has attained her eighteenth year to celebrate that majority for entering society by a ball known as "bal blanc," because the young ladies only wear white muslin toilettes, but rose tulle is also largely worn. The relatives of the family make it a duty to attend. Naturally that fete of spring-tide and beauty is very gay. At the dinner there is one table set apart for the heroine of the event; and its number of guests is fixed always at eighteen, corresponding to the number of her summers. The only aged person at this juvenile table is the grandfather of the young lady, who sits facing her.

In the eighteenth century, although forks were in use, they were not employed for mixing salads. This duty devolved on the youngest and handsomest lady in society, who employed her fingers, and was thus able to display her pretty hands and arms.

Lady painters are commencing to occupy a very important work position in society. Many gain a large income by their palette. If Bonnat makes half a million of francs yearly—as did Meissonier—Madame Lemaine and her daughter earn one-fourth of that sum. Next in the enjoyment of a princely revenue is Mdlle. Louise Abbema. She paints portraits, fans and panels; resides almost in a suite of garrets, artistically furnished, to secure light. She receives in her studio, full of Japanese upholstery and treasures; her lady comrades are dressed in Japanese toilettes and whiff cigarettes. The young hostess lives with her parents, and if she wears her hair short, like George Sand, this is due to its having been burned to the roots. She hates the woman-man. She rarely goes into society; paints while there is daylight, and when dusk sculptures; she takes a walk in company with her watch-dog or rides in the Bois with a bevy of lady friends.

The Hippic Show is, after the Salon, the great gathering ground for the fashionable world, and so for new toilettes. As it is only now that the sun condescends to shine, so toilettes like flowers are just coming into bloom. Hats tend more and more to be small this ssason and "quiet" in respect to trimming; flowers will be the favorite ornament, and of these violets are the rage; in the case of round hats and toques these display parterres of violets, often more leaves than flowers. Primroses and blue-bottles are the flowers next in most request. Hats will no longer be made in paillasson, but in rice and Italian straws; colors following fancy. For young girls the sailor's hat will be in vogue. Capotes are in black tulle and gilt-braiding; flowers, primroses; strings in black velvet; or in Italian straw, gilt embroidery, an aigrette of pansies, with bow of blue ribbon velvet, and strings to match.

Rose tulle with lozenge designs is a general material for ball dresses; it is worn over a transparent of rose silk, trimmed with sno-wdrops and foliage; the corsage is pointed, and in its lower part ornamented with flowers. For evening costumes blue silk cloth and rose tulle are in favour, Swede or kid gloves, according to taste. The materials preferred for town dresses are grey cloth with white cloth trimming; blue woollen trimmed with red velvet, green faille and "ecrue" embroidery, bengaline etc. As to shapes, robes are close-fitting, flat and short. The admired colors are first, blues, the blue-bottle tint especially; next in favor are the neutral shades, as the greys and beiges, these are tones that harmonize and never shock the tint of a hat, a jupon, or gloves.

Light colored jacquettes are a decided success, some opening shawl-like, display a white vest and a chemise front. Other jackets are in black velvet, richly embroidered. Long mantles are in silk, trimmed with lace. Mantelets are in lace. The Henri III. peleriné is to be met with everywhere.

IN DARKEST ENGLAND.

(Communicated)

B. Ayres, May 27th.

This book is beyond question one of the most extraordinary works that has ever issued from the press of old England, or indeed from any other country, the only one that comes at all near it being Mrs. Beecher Stow's great work "Uncle Tom's Cabin. And as the abolition of slavery may be attributed almost entirely to the disclosures of tyranny and abominable cruelty therein so freely denounced, so I feel certain the book before me is destined to rouse public spirit in England to such a pitch that the acknowledged curse of the present age—"Man's inhumanity to man"—will give place to open-handed generosity (a characteristic by no means rare in our countrymen), thus enabling the Salvation Army to grapple successfully with the growing evil and to work out the redemption of the "submerged tenth" in that complete and radical manner proposed by their great commander. Let no man laugh at the military organisation thus peacefully attempted, for without some such well-established system it would be impossible to carry out the great work that has been going on throughout Great Britain, Asia, Africa, and America during the last twenty years or more. Far from being narrow-minded or sectarian I find a very feeling tribute paid to the Roman Catholic Church as represented by those angels of mercy—"The little sisters of the poor," page 118 and no doubt had General Booth or any of his numerous male or female officers met St. Vincent de Paul, Don Bosco, or any other charitable hero, on the war path, they would be the first to welcome these holy men as brothers and fellow-labourers in their truly ennobling campaign. Space does not permit of my giving extracts from Mr. Booth's book, and those who would relish his plain, terse, trenchant style must read the volume for themselves. My present object is more in connection with the general plan for saving the fallen, at least so far as it affects this country. Experience proves that the main difficulty in rescuing the fallen of either sex is the very natural tendency of us all to return to old associates, whether good or bad, and hence emigration is proposed very properly as the best and surest plan. The author suggests South Africa for the new wholesale reformatory, not penal settlement, but I understand that, due to favourable offers having been received from Paraguay, it is far more likely that the experiment will first be tried in that depopulated but fertile region. Let no man cry at the prospect of such unpleasant neighbours, for if we are to believe General Booth's solemn, written assertions, then some of the best workmen in Great Britain are those he has so reclaimed from misery and vice. The pages abound with instances of such moral convictions, name, day and date being given in each case.

These social outcasts form fully a tenth part of the entire population: 20% of the men are retired soldiers, who, when once converted and brought under discipline, make the best workmen and truest servants. Neither is it intended to send out any new converts, but only such of them as have given long and continued proofs of virtue and merit at one or other of the Salvation Army factories; and even them they will be accompanied by their officers who will respond for their honesty and good conduct.

Well may that great light of the Roman Catholic Church, Cardinal Manning, praise so grand and truly ennobling a task, and well may General Booth feel proud of the good already achieved whilst hoping, not without reason, for much higher attainments in the near future.

Major de Barrett who commands out here is evidently a gentleman of considerable ability and world wide experience having served under charity's red banner in N. America, Australia and Canada. In the few months he is amongst us the Salvation Army has risen to the first rank among our charitable institutions giving food and shelter nightly to hundreds of poor men and women who must otherwise have starved literally in the streets.

Honour where honour is due.

The mind of man can conceive no grander or more ennobling programme than that great international regeneration so simply yet eloquently set forth by General Booth in the 285 closely set pages of royal octavo before me and which he feelingly dedicates to his dear departed wife, the companion of his labors in the cause of the poor and friendless during close on 40 years. Let the Salvation Army accomplish but a tithe of the great task, and it will have entitled itself to the respect and admiration of all mankind, irrespective of creed or nationality, as long as the world exists;

"As long as the heart has passion
As long as life has woes."

CENTRAL ARGENTINE RAILWAY.

Mr. Editor,

The two letters that recently appeared in your paper, signed 'Boss' and 'Ignotus', are worthy of all praise, and should be written in letters of fire and sent to the London Board of Directors.

It is most shameful that after twenty years' service the London Board finds the gentlemen who have served so long and so well to be unworthy of confidence and trust. They must send out 'raw material'. Now raw material has been proved and found wanting. I was much amused once at a railway station of a great trunk line at hearing the following conversation:—

Enter Argentine merchant.

To clerk recently arrived from England: M.—"Señor, tengo que mandar 1200 bolsas de maiz, tiene vd. wagones disponibles?"

R. M.—"Mi no sabe maise"

M.—"Creo, señor, que en el idioma de vd. se llama 'Indian corn'".

R.M.—"[Yes, yes, si, no yes, pero me sabe coches trasperte".

Exit R.M. Returning jubilant. "Señor, transport, coches, no hay Indian corn. Mañana. Adios. Good bye".

I read that merchant's thoughts: "That heathen Chinee is peculiar".

This is one of many cases I have seen of the absurdity of bringing young men out who do not know the language, and by the merchants are made a laughing stock.

No, sir; as in the Indian civil service so should it be here, not upon so strict a basis I will admit; but any applicant wishing to enter into the administration of a railway or any public work in this country should be obliged to pass an examination in the language of the country; by so doing he has easy entry into good society, thereby gaining the ideas of the commercial classes, becoming acquainted with the customs of the country and its people, and consequently the good will and opinion of those with whom he has to deal.

A railway is only a great warehouse from whence goods should be transported at the lowest possible remunerative price, especially when competition comes in; and bad indeed is the outlook for the F. C. A., when after 20 years bullock-carts can compete with the line in transport of merchandise.

(Communicated.)

On Wednesday evening about 8 o'clock, while four or five men from the American ships, now lying in number 2 dock, were eating supper in a restaurant in the Boca, one of the men rose from the table and went into the street for the purpose of hailing a cab, to take them to the city. The rest of his companions soon followed, and upon joining him on the side-walk were astonished to hear that he had been robbed, and the culprits were the police. Becoming indignant at the boldness of the act, the men soon raised the cry of thieves, which was immediately taken up by passers-by. The two same police rushed around the corner, and insisted on arresting the man who had been robbed, taking him in a round-about way to the Comisario, and relieving him at the same time of whatever remained on his person, in the shape of money, etc.

The Comisario was kind enough to insist on his sharing the comforts of the Station with him, until the following morning at 5 a.m., imposing a fine on him of $20 m/n for raising a disturbance in calling for help. Now this matter ought to be looked into by the proper authorities. This is not the first affair of this kind, and if it is not stopped, it will not be safe for citizens to walk the streets.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Affairs in general were a trifle too lively yesterday. The Gold Eagle neither screamed nor soared; but old Mrs Rumour gabbled all day long in tremendous fashion, and didn't go home to bed till an hour when all respectable ladies should have retired to rest.

The Clerk of the Weather looked yesterday as it he inteaded to play foul again to-day. Just like him; he appears to be completely demoralized by the crisis.

An esteemed subscriber from the South informs us that the "gentle rain from heaven" has done wonders near Bahia Blanca and the Colorado, where estancieros are in the best of spirits. From Donselar to crisis-stricken Buenos Ayres, however, the rain, in its excess, is turning the camps into a vast "pantano".

Our young friends are now in such "teaming" football form that we find it extremely difficult to publish all their contributions, and are reluctantly forced to hold over an account of the match played on Wednesday last by the Flores Collegiate School and the English College.

We wish to inform Major Barritt that the applications at our office for Food and Shelter tickets are very numerous, but we have received no tickets for several days. We are not, however, surprised at this when we learn that from April 29th to the 29th inst. 2244 people received shelter, and 3,193 meals were given away. This is really a most creditable fact for the Salvation Army.

One of the most eminent physicians in the city startled us yesterday by the statement that very many people have lately been placed by their friends and families in the Mad-house, having lost their reasons through the privations and excitement (chiefly political) of the times. This bears out what we have said before and say again to-day—that people will go raving mad in the streets before the crisis is over.

There must have been sad work on the Berlin Bolsa yesterday when they heard of gold being at 430 here. A London contemporary says: "Even at this late stage, Berlin is very timid about the possibility of trouble arising from its important holdings of Argentine securities. The desire of holders to realize is becoming more intense, and although they impose a prudent restraint upon their anxiety and avoid large sales, yet the fear is entertained that bad news from Buenos Ayres may any day precipitate a stampede for selling. Last month unfavourable news from Argentina caused such heavy sales that the Commissioners of the Berlin Exchange had to interfere and prevented more than half the orders to sell being executed, the remainder being postponed. The intervention was regarded as having staved off a panic." It would appear that our German friends have a rather summary way of dealing with disagreeable quotations; but its efficacy may be doubted.

The rumoured death of several Chilian refugees in the Cordillera, exiled by Balmaceda's orders, is one of the saddest episodes of the civil war on the West Coast. The report appears to have frightened the tyrant into some feeling of humanity, as he has ordered rescuing parties to be sent from Mendoza to look for his unfortunate victims. There seems to be no doubt as to the death of one of them, Don Demetrio Lastarria, who succumbed to a chest attack caused by the terrible cold. It is sheer madness to try to cross the Andes at the present season; and the fact that the Camus division did so in safety shows what splendid hardy, military stuff Chilians are made of.

The City Fathers met on Friday for their last ordinary sitting of the session and resolved to tackle the extraordinary business at night for the future, as they will be in a more genial humour after dinner for inventing new taxes etc. There is some truth in this. A good dinner makes all men "wondrous kind."

If the times were not so tearing bad we'd suggest a Crystal Ice Rink for skating purposes, to keep the public warm this cold weather. A company has been formed to open one at St. Stephen's Hall, Westminister. The inventor is Dr. Calantarients, senior surgeon of Scarborough Hospital, who, at his own expense, opened an experimental rink at Scarborough in 1889, which was opened for about 15 months, and many well-known skaters have declared their preference for the "Crystal Ice." This "Crystal Ice," although not real ice, absolutely resembles it in appearance and slipperiness, and the ordinary steelbladed skates are used.

The police have not yet caught the young students who did the glass-smashing the other day on the premises of our Spanish colleague, who seems rather distressed about it. Better let the matter drop, and get the broken panes replaced. Boys will be boys. The fact that one of baby King Alfonzo's subjects in Cordoba was put in the "cepo" for meddling in the revolution there is, however, a more serious business than a little glass-breaking by excited boys.

The Lord Mayor has resolved to spend $1000 a month more on the "Zoo" at Palermo. Where is it to come from?

An exchange from New York says:—"Baron Gustave Rothschild has retired from the market after losing $40,000,000 in speculation. His pluck is better than his judgment. Many persons would have retired before losing half that sum." We certainly would, if we had the chance.

Our worthy contemporary the Courrier de la Plata, which has prescribed and compounded "mille et un" patent cures (Arabian and others) for the crisis since it started, is still "harping on my daughter," or rather on its own prodigal sons, the "Bulls" of gold on the Bolsa. With tears of indignation in its eyes, it yesterday dubbed those highly respectable gentlemen "les miserables agioteurs." This is hard indeed, and must delight the shade of Dr. Johnson.

Scores of fresh amateur financial schemes were launched yesterday. The only one of the lot worth mentioning is the sensible proposal that Dr. Plaza should be ordered to make a clean breast of it to the European creditors of Saturday, May 30.

The tremendous excitement agitating every circle, from the highest to the lowest, was palpable to the merest onlooker to-day. The banks were crowded and the Bolsa was almost impenetrable, but everything passed off smoothly, in spite of the heavily charged state of the atmosphere, presaging some acute crisis at hand. The state of excitement may be gauged from the fact that when a policeman blew his whistle for assistance to procure the obedience of a refractory cabdriver, the street became crowded as if by magic. In the Bolsa a peaceable discussion on the state of the banks ended in two brokers getting on to fisticuffs; in fact, the excitement was simply a latent fever that threatened to break into fire at any moment. As for business, little or nothing was done, beyond a normal business in gold, which kept firm as a rock, shewing un vendor is Dr. F. Bernal, Messrs. Benitez Hnos. having been brokers in the business. The camp is only ten squares from General Rivas station, on the Pacific line, and, as we have already remarked, it is considered a great bargain for the purchaser.

Mrs. Mamerta Figueroa has sold 262 squares of camp, situated in the partido of Veccino, to Mr. V. Casamayor for 30,000 mpn.

Advices from Bahia Blanca, under date 29th May, announce the arrival there of the s.s. Austria, M. and Freda, the latter to load 8000 bags of wheat from the Viticola Argentina, Pigué and Tornquist colonies for this city.

In maize, some important transactions are reported for account of several local distilleries, amongst them one for 10,000 bags at 9.20 mpn, without bags, in San Pedro, the price shewing that export is now out of the question. Meantime, in the produce markets, business is very active and prices the highest known here, being quoted at 9.15 to 9.50 mpn for yellow and 9.50 to 11 mpn for brown maize.

Late exchanges bring the report of the London and Lancashire Insurance Company, presented at the general meeting of shareholders, held on April 30th, 1891. The annual report stated that the net premiums, after deducting sums paid to other offices in reduction of the company's liabilities, amounted to £702,346 12s., against £587,084 13s. 1d. in the previous year. The net fire losses, including full estimates for all such as were not adjusted at the closing of the books, amounted to £382,618 5s. 8d. The balance of the year's working, after provision for all expenses, bad debts, depreciations, and other charges, and including interest on investments, amounted to £119,284 14s. 9d. Adding this sum to the balance of £140,930 0s. 5d. brought forward from the previous account, there resulted an amount of £260,214 15s. 2d. to be dealt with, less the interim dividend of 3s. per share, amounting to £114,112, paid to the shareholders in November last. The directors proposed to pay a further dividend of 7s. per share, free of income tax, making a total dividend for the year of 20 per cent, as against 16 per cent for the previous year. In accordance with an agreement dated 19th January, 1891, that company had taken over the entire assets, liabilities and business of the London and Provincial Fire Insurance Company, of London. The general figures of this transaction do not enter into the accounts of the year now being reported upon; but, in connection therewith, the directors had issued 3283 new shares of this company, which will participate in the present dividend. The total dividend to be now paid would therefore absorb £27,077 1s. The directors proposed to increase the reserve and reinsurance fund by transferring £50,000 thereto, and to carry forward the balance, £172,025 14s. 2d. to the next account. After giving effect to the foregoing, and without including the assets taken over from the London and Provincial, the finan cial position would then stand as follows:—Subscribed capital, £1,852,000; of which is paid up £185,200; reserve and insurance fund £450,000, balance carried forward £172,025 14s. 2d.—£622,025 14s. 2d.

WOLSELEY SHEEP SHEARING MACHINE COMPANY LIMITED.

El Recreo, Azul, Marzo 3 de 1891.

Srs. AGAR, CROSS & CO., Calle Defensa 136.

Muy Señores Mios,

Tengo el gusto de comunicar a Vds. que las 4 maquinas de Esquilar sistema Wolseley me han dado un resultado satisfactorio y no quer a darles este informe hasta no haber concluido con la esquila de borregas. La maquina trabaja bien, esquilamos con facilidad cualquiera oveja por mas fina y arragada que sea: saca mas lana que la tijera y tiene la ventaja de no cortar, pero si en algunos casos rasguña descuidandose el esquilador. Estas l stim duras sanan facilmente, y se hacen cada vez menos cuanto mas practica se adquiere. No he notado que se me hayan muerto animales por esta causa.

Convencido de su eficacia pienso colocar doce aparatos para la proxima esquila y creo poder hacer facilmente el trabajo con ellos Puedo asegurar a Vds. que los esquiladores mas torpes aprenden facilmente, prefiriendolas a la tijera.

Pueden Vds. darle la publi idad que gusten.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S

CHLORODYNE.

The original and only genuine

Advice to Invalids.—If you wish to obtain quiet refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by Dr. J. Collis Brown, (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered
CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis Asthma.
CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.
CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.
CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, etc.
From Symes & Co's, Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, January 5, 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russel Street, Bloomsbury, London. Lear Sir,—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the widespread reputation this justly esteemed medecine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan; but all over the East. As a remedy for general utility, we must question wether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are so sorry to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent, we could multiply instances "ad infinitum" of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and Dysentery, Sapasms, Crampas, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative that have occurred under our personal observation duryy many years. In Cholraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's from a firm Conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a deliberate Breach of Faith on the part of the Chemist to prescribe and Patient alike. We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes and Co. Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain. His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists'.
CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne, was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of Chlorodine; that the story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See the "Times." July 13, 1864.
Sold in bottles at 1s. 1 1/2d., 2s. 9d., 4. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelmning medical testimony accompanies each bottle.
CAUTION.—Befare of Piracy and Imitations.
